ADMISSIONS 2026-27

Master of Design in Product Design

Two-year full-time (Online/Offline)

About the program

The Design and Innovation Centre (DIC) was established in 2024 to advance design-centric education at the National Institute of Technology Jamshedpur. Currently, DIC offers an M.Des program with a specialization in Product Design. All courses are meticulously curated to foster the spirit of experiential learning and encourage student-led innovation through vertical integration across the semesters. This program aims to develop design leaders with the courage and confidence to tackle complex challenges and students learn to create innovative, intelligent, and contextually appropriate products that address the unmet needs of society.
